

From: Member 824 [REDACTED]
Sent: Friday, May 15, 2026 9:31 AM
To: Member 67 [REDACTED]
Subject: RE: Surveillance Notes From My Old PC
Attachments:

This is 824. I went looking for his notes while everyone was out at the funeral as per your instructions, and you were right, the old dog hadn't updated his setup since 1994. Fortunately, he had been keeping records all the way up to his natural death in 2026, and the old pinfed still had some juice left in. Evil bastard. Was he secretly American? Don't answer that. Printed all the inosculation notes he had been keeping since the event and transcribed them below. Will delete from drafts once receipt is confirmed.

Note: Also included an entry for a "Pete Shucks, Sr., Age 67, who was also listed as a lawyer, but the file seems corrupted and contains no further information.

-824

DODGER

Aliases: Dodger, Brooke, Dexbonus?

Age: 39. Married to Sam Thorne. Mother of Clarke.

Occupation: Internet

Inosculation Assessment:

Wildly influential, with access to public attention beyond town limits, approach with caution and continue taking notes, but would be hard to recruit without also recruiting her similarly influential husband, Sam. Has a young child, could become more of a responsibility than an advantage. Suspected of hosting one of the mysterious life forms we have identified on this side of the barrier. Relatively small in size.

SAM THORNE

Aliases: Sam, Strippin?

Age: 37 Married to Dodger. Father of Clarke.

Occupation: Internet

Inosculation Assessment:

Along with his wife Dodger, he's probably one of the locals who's most known outside of town. Less high-profile than Dodger, and may be able to spend more time under cover before discovery. Performs his internet show at different hours than his wife, and may be more susceptible to suggestion during long stretches of night time video game playing. Might also be fooled into eating something suspect if it looks delicious enough in that gas station way. Unsure if he's aware of his wife's recent biomagical developments.

CLARKE THORNE

Aliases: Clarke, Clarkie?

Age: 8

Occupation: N/A

Inosculation Assessment:

N/A. We're gardeners, gentleman, not monsters. To get this child on our side will require years of campaigning, plenty of exposure to educational horticultural content, and slowly convincing her to act against the interest of herself and everyone in town. Let's see if we can't get her addicted to cigarettes, too.

CORAL GREY

Aliases: Coral, Coral Grey, Dr. Coral Grey

Age: 36, presumably childless.

Occupation: University Professor, Researcher, Mycologist

Inosculation Assessment:

Presumably an expert in rare and potentially dangerous mushrooms. Unsure of his current location within town, but still presumed to be within town limits before the border issue was solved. Has been seen conducting experiments related to the effect of sounds and specifically vibrational frequencies on mycological development. Perhaps best to avoid as a primary target, as he is the most likely to both identify and eliminate this threat.

PETER SHUCKS, JR.

Aliases: Peter, Pete, Pete Shucks, Attorney at Law

Age: 48, no children.

Occupation: Barrister, Solicitor, Lawyer

Inosculation Assessment:

Local fixture with roots in town that go back generations. Recently stepped out from under the shadow of his infamous father, who has both the same name and the same profession as his son, and spent a large portion of the previous century pushing our org out of town last time, though he's recently retired. Peter Jr. is more of a scrappy opportunist than a wealthy man of influence, and may be easily influenced if shown a path to his own benefit. May become a problem if convinced he can surpass his father, or if his father reveals his past to his son.

DANIEL GINGELL

Aliases: Daniel, Dan, DJ Dan

Age: 39, childless.

Occupation: Radio Presenter, Disc Jockey, Producer

Inosculation Assessment:

Morning and daytime of the local Thornsmouth-produced W1L0 Radio show produced over in the famous plaza studio near the town center. Highly influential in town, well-liked, and personally invested in any cause involving helping or improving the town due to his family's connection to the distillery in town. Despite his lineage, especially on his father's side, he may prove corruptible, as several of his co-workers have reported strange occurrences involving Dan and possible paranormal entities he claims to see and hear with some regularity. Will monitor in case it develops into an active counter-threat to our operations.

SENSITIVE COMMUNICATION

FOR ELDER EYES ONLY

ZOE BROWN

Aliases: Zoe, DJ Zoe Blue, Producer Zoe

Age: 26, recently out of university, childless

Occupation: Radio Producer, Presenter, Journalist

Inosculation Assessment:

More strategically sound contact point within the radio station staff, makes more decisions about programming, and even has microphone access, if we want to try and slowly discredit Dan and move her into more of a central role at the station. Concerned her degree in communications may have given her training in investigative journalism, and worried she may attempt to contact similarly minded people who might draw too much attention. Attempting to get a better sense of her morals before suggesting a route to compulsory recruitment.

SLEEP WILLIAMS

Name: Sleep, Sleepy

Age: 29

Occupation: Podcaster

Inosculation Assessment:

One of two podcast presenters who lives in the village who's been put completely out of work by the lockdown and radicalized against our organization. Seen by listeners as the more straightforward of the two, but not sure how that translates to his manner in reality. Obviously interesting in recruiting one or the other to turn them against each other and end the show, but neither has been recorded on camera since the beginning of the lockdown and I've only heard rumors of interviews being conducted around town.

CHRISTOPHER "CREEP" WILSON

Name: Creep, Creepy, Chris, Christopher

Age: 34

Occupation: Podcaster

Inosculation Assessment:

Similar to his co-presenter from a profiling perspective, except that his interests seem more metaphysical than concrete, and many of his listeners find his sprawling podcast narratives too complicated to understand even though they come back and listen every week. Not a professional opinion, but after listening to several episodes, Christopher seems to be the more idealistic of the pair. Recruitment possible, but may recommend alternative protocols to leadership, as a local podcast from within the enchantment bounds could be instrumental in creating that sense of normalcy we discussed at last week's meeting.

MAXIMILLION T. COX

Name: Max, Max Cox, International Superstar Max Cox

Age: N/A

Occupation: Scarecrow

Inosculation Assessment:

We were aware of Max Cox's regular trips to town before we began operations in the area, but considering what he's meant to be doing here, we were not aware that he could possibly be the same Max Cox seen and beloved in cinemas all around the world. While I'm aware his physiology prevents him from inoculation in the conventional sense, perhaps a more esoteric method of control exists which we currently have no knowledge of, which would allow us to deploy him into the village as needed to serve his actual intended purpose.

LEONARDO TAYLOR

Name: Leo, Leonardo Da Sneakii, Skibidihotpocket

Age: 16

Occupation: N/A

Inoculation Assessment:

While younger than our traditional recruitment candidates, Leonardo's grandmother is currently under observation in our quarantine lab after showing signs of biomagical exposure, and having him under our direct control may help assuage any doubts anyone who knows his grandmother well might have about where she's gone. Fortunately, Leonardo seems to have vanished just before the lockdown, and may not even be present in town any longer, though security has made it clear they'd like me to continue keeping an eye out for the boy, as they're worried he may be more knowledgeable with computers than anyone would reasonably expect.